Lumber Trade for Raleigh-Williams Waylaid by Negroes.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 12.-(Special.)-A telegram from Washington, N. C., to Governor Carr last night armounces the death of Captain Adam Warner, Associate Shell-Fish Commissioner of this State Captain Warner was about 58 years of age. Before the war he was in command of a vessel in the West India trade. In 1891 he became a member of the Shell-Fish Commission, and was by virtue of his office commander of the oyster-patrol

The first copy of Bulletin No. 1, 'Tron Ores of North Carolina," preliminary report by H. C. B. Nitze, Assistant Geologist, has just been placed in the Governor's hands. The book has 239 pages, and is profusely illustrated. Much time was devoted to its preparation.

The belief is quite general here that Raleigh's new postmaster will be named by Wednesday. Both the senators favor Charles M. Busbec, while Congressman Bunn favors W. C. Stronach.

PLANS PERFECTED.

It was learned to-day that northern men of large means will, in conjunction with some persons here, establish in this city a very extensive lumber trade. The defirite announcement of the names will be made in a few days, but all the plans are perfected. The business will be on a great scale, mainly in yellow-pine lumber, and the assortment will be heavy.

At midnight Saturday night two negroes quarrelled with Sidney Williams, a white ountryman, in the suburbs of Raleigh. Williams left for home in his wagon, and the negroes atlacked him, having way-laid him. There was a desperate fight, and one of the negroes (Andrew Bridgers) was dangerously stabbed. Warrants are out for all the persons concerned.

THE POULTRY TRADE. Several car-loads of poultry from this State passed here yesterday on the way to New York. There were many thou-sands of the fowls.

Rodsoy Gillis, a deputy sheriff in Cumberland county, was shot in the head and deangerously wounded by Jim Ray, a regrow he was attempting to arrest.

DEATH OF ELDER W. F. BELL.

Recovered His Speech and Preached Sermon-Bishop Cheshire's Visit.

SCOTLAND NECK, N. C., March 12 .-(pecial.)-Elder W. F. Bell, a minister the Primitive Paptist denomination, ed near Enfield, in this county, a few days ago, and there was something remarkable in his case. Some six years ago he became paralyzed and almost enly lost his speech. A short while before he died his speech wholly returned to him, and he could speak distinctly. Just before he died he selected a text Just before he died he selected a text from the Bible and preached a sermon as though he were before a congregation. When his speech returned the side which had been paralyzed twitched violently, until his hand and arm were bruised badly. Bishop J. B. Cheshire, of the Eastern Diocess of North Carolina, is here on his first visitation to the Episcopal church since his consecration. He spoke in the Episcopal church Friday night and yesterday morning and last night he preached. Yesterday afternoon he preached at the old Episcopal church at the cemetery, one mile out of town. His congregations were greatly pleased with him. The following persons were conhim. The following persons were con-firmed: Nat Smith, Misses Susie Peters, Lizzle Smith, and Susie Hill. Rev. Mr. Rainbun, of Asheville, also visited the church and lectured Friday night on "Musions." He also pleased these who He also pleased those

A call with the names of many citizens is being circulated here asking for a meeting of the white men of this county of Halifax on March 3ist, to devise some plan of holding the people together politically. The hope is that those who have left the Democratic party may be induced to return, and that such harmony may be restored that the political interests of the county will no longer be endangered. It meets with general approval.

Mr. Edwin Barnes, the recently-appointed postmaster at this place, has received his commission, and took charge of the office this morning. It is a source of much pleasure that the Wilson post-office is at last conducted by a Democrat. It is announced by the chairman of the Executive Committee of the People's party of Wilson county that the grand rally which has been advertised for March 24th has been indefinitely postponed in oxder to give the braves more time to prepare for the great event and to await the action of Congress, it is supposed.

Mr. W. P. Wootten has been appointed deputy grand regent of the Wilson Council of the Royal Arcanum vice Mr. S. M. Warren, Jr., who has removed to Washington city. Mr. Wootten is one of our prominent citizens, and the news of his promotion in this order will be heard with pleasure by his many friends.

DURHAM, N. C., March 12.—(Special.)—

The Late General Early.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

The Wilmington Messenger is a very orthodox and conservative newspaper, but it stands up for General Early in spite of the criticisms of some people who condemn his connection with the Louisiana lottery.

Our contemporary claims that the good in General Early's character greatly preponderated over the bad. It says:

"There was a time, and not a century ago, when the Christian churches held lotteries to carry on their work and build edifices, etc. In this very city, if our memory is not at fault, such lotteries were held. General Early, we think, was not a boliever in Christian shis personal Saviour, was peaceable enough to do in 1870-90 what only a little wase ago Christian churches did, and some are doing still, perhaps."

hat they were very wicked and dangerous institutions.

General Early was an old-fashioned man. He saw no more harm in risking money on a lottery-ticket than in risking it on futures and various forms of speculation which are now lawful and popular.

lar.
We are not defending lotteries, but it strikes us that General Early is no more to blame in the matter than George Washington was when he favored lotteries and purhased their tickets. We have done a good thing in getting rid of lotteries, but we have many worse evils which the law has not yet touched.

Mrs. Willie Allen. (Atlanta Constitution.)

Mrs. Willie Allen.
(Atlanta Constitution.)

The visit of Mrs. Willie Allen, of New York, to Mrs. Edmund Tyler is ona of great social moment here. Mrs. Allen will, I believe, remain for the Easter gayeties, when a number of entertainments will be given in her honor. She is a very fascinating and a beautiful woman, and she is probably one of the most noted southern society women in this country.

As Miss Minnie Anderson, in her girlhood, she had scores of adorers at her feet, and the inspiration of her beauty and fascination has given to the world from the soul of a poet some of the most beautiful love poems in the English language. One of these, called "A Last Taik," has not its equal in tenderness, pathos, and grace. I suppose every girlhas it in her scrap-book, and, for my part, I can recall the time when I referred to it often in disconsolately sentimental moods and found within its music a comfort incomparable. But, dear me! that we leave then Minnie Anmoods and found within its music a com-fort incomparable. But, dear me! that was long ago, and since then Minnle An-derson, the idolized belie of the South, has married and grown more worldly wise and brilliant and bewitching. She is polished, original, and possessed of that indescribable quality which makes a woman irresistibly fascinating.

Protection of Potomac Fish.

Trotection of Potomac Fish.

(Washington Post.)

The people of the District and the people of Maryland and Virginia are to be congratulated on the passage of the bill which provides for the continuance in force of the provisions of an act and which provides for the continuance in force of the provisions of an act approved March 2, A. D. 1885, entitled "An act to protect the fish in the Potomac river, in the District of Columbia, and to provide a spawning ground for shad and herring in the said Potomac river."

The law restricting the right to take fish from the Potomac river with certain known appliances and prohibiting the deposit therein of any material which would interfere with the spawn of the fish or destroy the young fish themselves has been very beneficial and contributed largely to the marked improvement that has taken place in the take of fish in that river in the last few years, and it was found destrable in the interest of the fisheries that the law be continued in force.
